

Communicating and Speaking: Preschooler

Teacher: What did mama do at the baby doctor?

Girl: Her was--her was so --her was --her was so cute when her was smiling, my mama, 'cause her was holding the baby. And her was rocking him asleep when he came out.

Teacher: Has the baby come out yet, or is it still in her tummy?

Girl: Still in her tummy.

Teacher: It's still in her tummy. But she's gonna do that when--when she has the baby, right?

Girl: Yes.

Teacher: Yeah, she sure will. And you're gonna help her? How are you gonna help mama with the baby?

Girl: You just gotta put it--You just gotta put it in the cradle so it won't cry.

Teacher: You're right.

Girl: So, the kid's gonna -- if -- if you don't put it in the cradle for nap time, it'll cry.

Teacher: For nap time, yeah. That's a good place to put the baby while it sleeps. I can tell you're gonna be a good big sister.

Girl: [Chuckles] And I've got to go get the baby's clothes!

Teacher: Oh, my goodness.
